Vineland Construction Company's Atlantic City Office Building Named 2011 New Good Neighbor Award Winner By New Jersey Business and Industry Association

Vineland, NJ., April 21, 2011 – Vineland Construction Company's office building located at 1801 Atlantic Avenue, Atlantic City, New Jersey was selected as a winner of the 2011 New Good Neighbor Award by the New Jersey Business and Industry Association.

The building was chosen, along with several other buildings in the State of New Jersey, from a large selection of nominated properties. The Award recognizes winning facilities as good neighbors for various reasons. 1801 Atlantic Avenue was selected as a winner because it provides a stunning modern commercial look to that area of Atlantic City, is a LEED certified (environmentally sound) facility, has and will create and maintain employment and generally improves the community by attracting strong tenants. The facility is the first office building built in Atlantic City in about forty (40) years and has Sun National Bank and the United States Postal Service as tenants.

The facility was nominated for this Award by the President of the Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce.
